Rules cannot be eased yet for China visits

Kuala Lumpur, Wed.

The Government in Malaysia on Wednesday maintained the conditional abolition of the entry visa for Chinese visitors, the Deputy Prime Minister, Tunku Abdul Rahman, told the Dewan Rakyat today.

He said it was not possible to grant ease of entry for Chinese visitors at the present time for several reasons, among them the current political situation in China, the recent Sino-Soviet conflict and the relationship between the two countries.

All the same, Malaysia was prepared to consider any suggestion on the matter, he said.

On the political situation in China, the Tunku said that, since the last Sino-Soviet war, China had maintained a more conciliatory attitude.

As for the Sino-Soviet conflict, he said that Malaysia was concerned about maintaining a peaceful atmosphere between the two giant neighbours.

He added that Malaysia had no intention of taking sides in the conflict because it was important to maintain good relations with both countries.

The Tunku, who had been in the country for the past two weeks, said that he was now going back to the United States to attend a conference there. He said that his stay in the country had been very pleasant.

He said that he had received a warm welcome from the people of the country and that he had been impressed by the progress made in the country.

He added that he was looking forward to his return to the United States and that he was confident that his stay in the country would have a positive impact on the future of the country.

Mass hysteria closes part of factory

OPINION of many experts among 25 women employees in a Spore factory of Japanese origin is that the factory will be shut down partly next month.

It was the third time that workers at the factory had expressed a desire to leave the factory.

The workers said that they were dissatisfied with the management and that they were not being paid enough.

One of the women said that she was not being paid enough and that she was being treated badly.

She added that she was treated badly and that she was not being paid enough.

The factory, which is owned by the Japanese-owned company, said that it was willing to pay the workers more and that it was willing to improve their working conditions.

However, the workers said that they were not willing to accept the offer and that they were willing to continue their protest.

They added that they were willing to continue their protest and that they were willing to continue their protest.
